

UNION LABOR DISSENSION IS DEVELOPING

DEMOCRATS TO DINE; OBSERVE ELECTION WIN

Dinners All Over U. S. Range Up To $100 a Plate

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—President Roosevelt rounded out his first four years in office at noon today.

While he actually began his second term January 20, this was the anniversary of his first inauguration when he took the oath of office at noon. The date was changed from March to January by the constitutional amendment which abolished "lame duck" sessions of Congress.

The president made only a few morning appointments and kept the afternoon free to complete the speech he will deliver tonight at a Democratic "victory" dinner, designed to pay off the $430,000 party deficit.

White House officials said the address, to be made between 9:30 and 10 P. M. (Central Standard time) and broadcast to similar dinners over the country, would be of an important nature but not touch directly upon the Supreme Court controversy.

It will lay the groundwork, these officials said, for a more detailed statement of his judiciary and other objectives in the "fireside chat" from the White House next Tuesday.

Mr. Roosevelt was understood to have given a rough outline of his dinner speech at a conference late yesterday with Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) and Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex.), Democratic congressional leaders.

Democrats conversant with the president's intentions said he would talk in terms of problems more than remedies, much as he did in his inaugural address four years ago today.

Work Greatest Problem

He was represented by them as still believing, as he said then, that "our greatest primary task is to put people to work."

Estimates of that day showed about 15,000,000 were unemployed. The American Federation of Labor recently numbered the idle at about 10,000,000.

More than 1300 persons have paid $100 each for tickets to the dinner Mr. Roosevelt will attend. All but $5 will go to the party. Some 1400 more will sit down to a $10-a-plate dinner of "Young Democrats" several blocks away, where Mrs. Roosevelt will be guest of honor.

W. Forbes Morgan, party treasurer, said 1,162 dinners were scheduled in 43 states. Vice President Garner will be the honor guest at the $50-a-plate dinner in New York.

What Is Real Dispute?

Some supporters of the president on the judiciary issue have argued that the real dispute is over the Roosevelt program of wage and hour and agricultural legislation, not over possible enlargement of the Supreme Court.

This is disputed by leaders of the Democratic opposition to the court bill, some of whom insist the proper way to seek farm and labor objectives is by constitutional amendment.

These dissenters sought today to enlist aid from spokesmen for business, labor and farm groups themselves.

Blames Hard Water

A Madison, Wis., mother has notified water Superintendent Leon A. Smith that she will present to the city a bill for the cost of her son's operation for gallstones. She alleged that his condition was due to drinking hard water.

Ohio Governor Pardons Fugitive Caught After 16 Years' Freedom

Columbus, Ohio, March 4.—(AP)—A full pardon and $10 from Gov. Martin L. Davey sent Terrance J. Cannon back to Pittsburgh today, free of the shadow of prison walls for the first time in 19 years.

The governor talked with the big, 38-year-old steel mill foreman for two hours last night, then granted the pardon and gave him $10 to pay his railroad fare home.

"Good luck to you, sir," the governor said as he shook the steelworker's hand and gave him the money.

"I don't know how to thank you, Governor," Cannon replied, almost tearfully. "I don't think you'll ever regret this."

Later, Cannon, who has been promised a promotion in the steel plant, remarked that "the governor sure is a wonderful fellow."

Pittsburgh became his home during his wanderings as a fugitive from the London, O., prison farm from which he escaped 16 years ago. He married a year ago and police intervention in a family quarrel led to his identification last week.

A plea from his wife and an executive of the steel mill where he worked preceded the pardon. Cannon had decided to fight extradition but finally returned to Columbus voluntarily.

Rains In North Bring Flood Threat

Embarrassed

Calcutta, India, March 4.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh blushed with embarrassment with those of Buddha, Gaiety and "other spiritual figures of the world."

The poetess Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, at the meeting of the Parliament of Religions, praised his achievements as "part of the world spirit of faith rendered into action."

As Col. Lindbergh and Mrs. Lindbergh, who is accompanying him on his flights over India, were occupying prominent seats at the meeting, his intense embarrassment was easily visible to all the gathering.

ROCK RIVER AGAIN SHOWS AN INCREASE

Galena Streets Overflowed by Mounting Waters

Rock River started rising here again this morning, probably due to rains throughout northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin during the night and a four inch rise was noted below the dam at the I. N. U. Company's hydro plant from 7 o'clock this morning until 1 o'clock this afternoon. The three heavy ice gorges at the Oregon bridge, Castle Rock and north of Nelson continued to hold solidly after four days of warm sunshine and mild weather.

Ice below the Nelson railroad bridge was reported to have broken up somewhat yesterday afternoon and was being carried past Sterling, where a slight fall in the stage of water was reported. At Oregon, however, the water level was reported to be showing a gradual rise and the heavy field of ice south of Oregon still held solidly.

Pecatonica Up

The I. N. U. offices here reported a raise of six and one-half inches in the Pecatonica river at Freeport during the night, which was attributed to rains in the northwest section of the state last evening.

Some of the ice on the north side of the island above the dam broke loose yesterday afternoon late and about half the channel was open today. The stage of water was continuing to show a rise from 7 o'clock this morning until late this afternoon, however.

Niagara Jam Breaks

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 4.—(AP)—Niagara's great ice jam began breaking up today.

The water flow over the American falls, which were partly dry yesterday, increased nearly to normal, and holes appeared in the ice sheet in the lower gorge. This sheet has been estimated by rivermen to be 40 to 60 feet thick.

Rivermen on the Canadian shore have said there was more ice below Niagara this week than in 28 years.

GALENA MENACED

Galena, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—The rising Galena river menaced this city again today, but the crest was expected to fall considerably short of the flood two weeks ago.

The river rose during the morning to 22.6 at 10 A. M. The crest was expected about 1 P. M., however, since the river was falling upstream. The crest of the Feb. 21 flood in which three persons were drowned, was more than 27 feet.

Little damage was expected, since merchants, forewarned by heavy rains, had removed stock from stores along Commerce street. This thoroughfare was inundated and the waters were expected to flow over Main street before noon. Few persons were reported homeless.

Rockford, Ill., reported 41 of an inch of rainfall last night, but the rain had ceased this morning throughout northern Illinois. The Rock River at Rockford was up several inches but still two feet below.

Forreston, March 4.—Seten D. Hiteman passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Rodermund here at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday.

He was expected about 1 P. M., however, since the river was falling upstream. The crest of the Feb. 21 flood in which three persons were drowned, was more than 27 feet.

Little damage was expected, since merchants, forewarned by heavy rains, had removed stock from stores along Commerce street. This thoroughfare was inundated and the waters were expected to flow over Main street before noon. Few persons were reported homeless.

Rockford, Ill., reported 41 of an inch of rainfall last night, but the rain had ceased this morning throughout northern Illinois. The Rock River at Rockford was up several inches but still two feet below.

Fight Indictments For Violation Of Anti-Trust Act

Madison, Wis., March 4.—(AP)—Attorneys for some of the nation's leading personalities in the oil industry began a fight today to block trial on indictments returned by two federal grand juries charging them with violating the Sherman anti-trust act.

Seven presidents and 50 officials of oil companies, one by one, marched before Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone yesterday and pleaded innocent to charges they conspired to fix retail gasoline prices and jobbers' margins of profits.

Hearings of defense motions to quash the indictments and demurrers as to the jurisdiction of the court resumed today before Judge McKee.

Demand on I. N. U. for Electric Energy in 1936 Greatest in Its History

Operating Revenue During Year Increased 5 Pct.

The operating revenues of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. in 1936 amounted to $3,734,291.10, an increase of $905,710.70, or 15.7 per cent over those of the previous year, stockholders of the company were informed in the annual report of the Board of Directors, which they received today. Of the total revenues the electric business accounted for $3,227,736.35, which was $509,757.50 greater than the electric revenues of the previous year, or 18.7 per cent. Revenues from the company's gas business were $478,805.98 and showed an increase of 2 per cent. Other operating revenues, amounting to $27,748.77, were $13,691.55 lower than in 1935.

Operating expenses and taxes totaled $2,614,049.12, an increase of $513,143.21, or 24.4 per cent over the figure of last year. Taxes increased $115,094.47 and were 31.5 per cent higher than the previous year. Provision for depreciation increased $34,815.43 on account of new permanent property and equipment added to the company's system.

Operating expenses, exclusive of depreciation and taxes, increased $363,233.31, or 29.1 per cent. This increase was chiefly attributable to the cost of supplying the increased amount of electric service demanded by the company's customers. Maintenance expenditures were higher than the previous year and there were general increases in payroll expenditures.

Net income amounted to $621,310.28, a gain of $1,060.44 over that of 1935.

Taxes Increased

The tax provision for 1936, including $12,000 for surtax on undistributed income, was $480,267.26, an increase of $115,094.47 as mentioned above, or 31.5 per cent over the corresponding item for 1935. Of each dollar of income that the company received in 1936 it was necessary to set aside 12.78 for direct taxes or an equivalent of $8.79 per share on the outstanding preferred stock of the company. This compares with $6.68 per share in the previous year.

The tax for unemployment imposed by the Federal Social Security act for 1936, amounted to $12,000.

Hog Thieves Have Invaded Lee County

Hog thieves who have been active in Bureau, Whiteside and Ogle counties, have invaded Lee County and Chief Deputy Sheriff Gilbert Finch is today investigating the first hog theft to be reported to the sheriff's office in many months. Frank Atkinson, who resides in the Temperance Hill vicinity in Nachusa township, has reported six Chester White pigs weighing about 150 pounds each, stolen some time Tuesday night.

The family was absent from home in the early part of the evening and the loss was not discovered until yesterday morning. Deputy Finch found that two fences had been cut to permit a truck to be driven up to the outbuildings where the hogs were loaded. A new set of harness was also stolen from a barn. The indications are that the thieves may have left before they had completed their robbery, as other hogs had been driven from the hog house but had not been loaded.

Harrisburg Wants $150,000 To Pump Water From Mines

Springfield, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—Word that an appropriation of $150,000 would be sought in the legislature next week to pump flood waters from mines in the Harrisburg vicinity was circulated today as Governor Horner awaited a report of engineers on whether the water in the mines under the city was endangering foundations.

M. M. Leighton, chief of the Illinois Geological survey, accompanied by an engineer, made a survey of the conditions in Harrisburg today.

A committee from Harrisburg conferred earlier this week with the governor, seeking state aid in rehabilitation.

Tom Mooney Seeks Pardon and Liberation Through State Law Makers

Sacramento, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—A state legislative committee's vote to give Thomas J. Mooney a full pardon opened a new avenue today of possible freedom for the man who was convicted of the 1916 parade bombing in San Francisco.

The action by the California assembly's rules committee, recommending passage of a pardon resolution, shifted immediate interest from Mooney's court fight for exoneration.

His habeas corpus petition, contending he was convicted through perjury, now is before the state Supreme Court on recommendation of Referee A. E. Shaw that it be denied.

As approved by a four to two vote of the committee, yesterday, the resolution directs:

"That the said Thomas J. Mooney be and is hereby granted a full and complete pardon, and that the said Thomas J. Mooney be and is hereby set at liberty."

Approval of the measure by a majority in both houses of the legislature would be in the opinion of some legal authorities, be equivalent under the state Constitution to an executive pardon.

Together

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Aerill Ramsey, 55, and her daughter, Alice Dean, 20, won a $50 prize on a radio program for telling "the most heart-rending personal experience of the week."

They told how they had gone down to the East river, overcome by poverty and loneliness, with the intent of "ending it all" but had been encouraged to go on living by a policeman.

Their $50 prize-money paid for rent and food for more than two weeks. Then the money gave out.

On Monday, their bodies were found in a gas-filled attic room for which they had paid their last $3. A penny was found in the girl's purse.

Jewelry Workers Union Officials Talk With Beman

Elgin, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—Leaders of the international jewelry workers union planned to confer today with L. W. Beman, regional director of the national labor relations board, and a citizens committee in behalf of striking employees of the Illinois Watch Case company.

The union heads were authorized at a meeting of strikers last night to appoint a "secret" committee of three union workers to meet with company President Louis Eppenstein with a view to effecting a settlement of the week-old strike.

The committee will be instructed to negotiate only on the basis of a closed shop, a proposal which Eppenstein has said he will never consider.

Arsenic Poisoning

St. Louis, March 4.—(AP)—The death of the St. Louis zoo's oldest cock-on-the-rock bird from arsenic poisoning was announced yesterday. Zoo authorities said the bird, purchased six years ago at a cost of $500 was poisoned by eating sprayed tomatoes.

The cock-on-the-rock, a native of northern South America, is one of the rarest birds in existence, officials said.

MOANS OF SLEEPING MAN REVEAL MURDER OF FIVE

Richmond, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—Moans of a sleeping farm hand led to solution of the "devotion" quintuple slaying at Auburn, Wash. police disclosed today.

Monday the bodies of Mrs. Enechi Kato and four children, ranging from 5 to 9 in age, were dug up from a shallow grave. They had been shot and strangled.

"Executed with almost tender devotion," said an investigator, Kato is missing.

February 18 E. H. Icajaya, Japanese floriculturist here, hired a new field hand. The man groaned in his sleep. Icajaya asked why. "Lonesomeness for my family," the man said.

Icajaya was not convinced. He asked again and again. Yesterday, according to Police Chief L. E. Jones, the man broke down and confessed killing his ill wife and the children on his farm near Auburn, Feb. 12. Icajaya took the man to police headquarters. He was identified as Kato.

Jones said Kato, speaking through an interpreter, confessed anew but offered no satisfactory explanation.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spurred by hour and wage concessions in the steel, leather and automotive fields for new unionization thrusts in oil, textiles and other industries, labor leaders today saw fresh threats of union rivalry developing.

Possibilities of dissent, already marked between the John L. Lewis' Committee of Industrial Organization and the older craft unions under domination of William Green, widened with announcement that the Carnegie-Illinois Steel employee representation plan contemplated formation of an independent union.

Following steel management's statement that its negotiations with the CIO did not recognize that group as the sole bargaining agency, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation announced its position was similar. It emphasized recognition of the CIO as bargaining agent only for those employees who were members of the United Automobile Workers Union.

Many Return to Work

Agreements paved the way for prompt return to work in several strike sectors. Among them were 1,200 rubber workers at Goodyear, Wis.; 15,000 auto body workers in two Detroit plants; several hundred power employees in Minneapolis bindery workers in Chicago and foundry men in Sarnia, Ont.

The Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co., half southern subsidiary of U. S. Steel Corporation, joined in the industry's new wage and hour program for 15,000 of its employees.

New strikes started in three Detroit plants of the Bohn Aluminum Co., and in a subsidiary, the Michigan Smelting & Refining Co., affecting 1,200 persons. In Akron, O.,

Federation—

The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. plant No. 1 closed down, forcing idleness upon 8,000 employees.

Over 40,000 Idle
Upwards of 40,000 workers were idle in disputes affecting a half hundred business and industrial firms.

While strikers and employers sought compromises, leaders of the Committee for Industrial Organization viewed with satisfaction its contract with the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp. and mapped plans for the eventual unionization of all industrial workers in the nation.

Supporters of John L. Lewis, dominant figure in the C. I. O., said the drive in the steel industry would be extended to the oil, automotive and textile industries. C. I. O. units sought recognition as the sole bargaining agencies for Chrysler Motor Corporation and General Electric Corporation employees. A shot union was projected by the New England C. I. O. council.

Carnegie-Illinois Corp. announced it would continue to deal with all employee groups despite its recognition of the C. I. O. as the bargaining agency for members of that organization.

Breach Not Healed
C. I. O. gains did not heal its breach with the American Federation of Labor, President William Green said the federation will not tolerate extension of support to a dual and rival organization. The Cleveland Federation of Labor suspended all five member unions affiliated with the C. I. O.

Several additional steel firms announced higher wages. Among them were the Laclede Steel Co., employing 1,400 in factories at Alton and Madison, Ill.; Sheffield Steel Corp., employing 2,500 at Kansas City; American Steel & Wire, 325 at Anderson, Ind.; Colorado Fuel & Iron, 700 at Pueblo, Colo.

Short-Steps To Spring Styles

Urbana, Ill., March 4—What shall mi-lady wear for spring?

Prettiness is one of the keynotes of 1937 styles, says Miss Helen Eades, associate in home economics, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. This pretty picture quality may be achieved by homemakers and their daughters in many ways.

Be straight and slender in tailored daytime clothes and in some dinner and evening gowns, she says, but go in for feminine circular skirts for afternoon frocks or for romantic evening wear. Skirt lengths remain about the same, perhaps a little shorter than found in winter clothes.

Some daytime dresses feature pleats. These are used in under tunics or placed low on afternoon dresses. Redingotes combine many of the novelty, sheer or more formal fabrics with navy or black.

In most cases shoulders are accented slightly. This is achieved by epaulettes, stiff lining, very full sleeves in soft dresses or sometimes by padding in tailored clothes. Necklines favor either the high line or the more open types as shown by the small square, low V, or the draped style and yoke effect.

As for sleeves they are either short or long, simple or draped, cut full at the top or pleated and bloused at the elbow.

Some tunics are found for spring, but jackets are more popular. Decorations offer unlimited variety. Brilliant braidings, Hungarian and multi-colored embroidery and applique are to be used on dark materials. Trimmings include ribbon, bows, self fabric, rows of little bows and amusing buttons such as plastic mermaids, ship figures and tiny umbrellas.

As for materials, woens predominate in every style from beach to formal wear. Mannish worsteds, jersey, flannel, tweed, velvet, woens and broadcloth are good, says Miss Eades.

Printed fabrics are proving more popular than ever with greater profusion in color and design. Multi-colored stripes, plaids, all-over patterns of flowers in small or large design and amusing peasant and animal motifs are featured.

In silks and synthetics crisp thin sheers, plain crepe weaves, thicker satin weaves, chiffons and sheer crepes have the spot light. Among cottons pique, sturdy percale, glazed chintz, men's shirts and organdie are nice. Novelty materials include crin mesh, knotted string, alpaca and pineapple cloth which is a sheer muslin.

Linens and laces return—linens as printed, rough, damask, natural, quilted and plaids and laces as printed and combined with fur.

Speaking of color beige, gray and yellow will be the leaders, although pink of the cyclamen shade is singled out as a feature color for day and evening. For multi-colored themes try strong colors, such as purple red, yellow, vivid green and deep blues, suggests Miss Eades.

Black with vivid accents is stylish as is white with vivid patterned accents. Red to violet shades will be worn, but many shades of blue will be seen. Green is very good, yellows are strong for sports and pastels rate for evening.

Suggestions to Keep Child Busy

Keeping the small child constructively busy during the hours when older brother and sister are at school is no small task. However, Bureau county homemakers can accomplish this by providing the kind of toys which have been found most interesting and worthwhile to small tots, suggests Marie Daugherty, home adviser.

In a Chicago study it was found that clay or plastacene is among the most fascinating play materials for children from two to five years of age. Blocks also rank high, from the huge hollow ones often preferred for small children because the blocks are light-weight, to the assorted blocks of all sizes and colors which the four and five-year old can handle well. Both types of toys can be made easily at home, according to the information and instruction which the home adviser has received from Miss Edna Walls, extension specialist in child development and parent education, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

In the study referred to, the toys were rated on the basis of percentage of time spent in playing with them, whether the child chose to play with them first or second, the frequency of play with them, the attention span, whether two or more children could play with the toys together and the social value of the toy.

Other toys receiving high ranking were: For two year olds, doll-corner materials and easel paints; three year olds, doll-corner materials, dishes and a big wagon; four year olds, doll-corner materials, small cars, balls and scissors, and five year olds, crayons, doll-corner materials, balls and scissors.

Home-made molding clay is made by the following method: 1 cup of flour, 1/2 cup of salt, 3 teaspoons of alum, water enough to hold the materials together and some vegetable coloring.

Hollow blocks can be made at home from cheese or cigar or similar wooden boxes. Solid blocks from scraps of building construction or from the lumber yard.

Detailed directions for making blocks and other homemade toys may be secured by writing to the farm or home adviser or to the extension service, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

SEN. BORAH'S VIEWS

Certain destruction of the American constitution at the whim—overnight—of an executive defeated by the fundamental law of the land goes in lockstep with President Roosevelt's plan to pack the Supreme Court.

Senator William E. Borah, leonine Republican independent from Idaho and one of the country's greatest authorities on constitutional law, wraps up the new campaign from the White House in this conclusion published in the March issue of Rural Progress Magazine.

Mr. Borah's thinking is known to have been a step ahead of the President's many times in the past. His opinions on an increase in Supreme Court membership were reached in anticipation of the scheme to add six New Dealers to the bench now occupied by the "nine old men."

If the Constitution must be changed, says Senator Borah, let it be by the will of the people after they have been given time for study and debate. Above all, he says, the change must not come from Washington.

"Clearly enough," he writes, "we are now confronted by the issue whether we shall change our written Constitution, if at all, by the established, orderly, open way, or whether we shall destroy it. For a sure way to destruction is the way of indirection—the way proposed to permit the executive to change the personnel of the highest court and, overnight, substitute for an independent judiciary one hand-picked and in all probability subservient to the executive power."

Discontent with the court springs from a desire to escape from the law itself, Mr. Borah's article states.

"In the last analysis," he writes, "every question affecting the personnel of the Supreme Court and its interpretation of fundamental law, arises from someone's discontent with constituted authority. If the executive finds it difficult or believes it impossible to allay that discontent by means that lie within the constitution, does it justify extra-legal means to effect a change? The sober and informed judgment of the people, I dare say, will answer in the negative."

Senator Borah points out that all major parties are guilty of attempts to encroach upon the legislative and judicial branches of the government through the executive. Constitutional balance, however, is not a party question to his mind, but a problem concerning everybody.

The blessings of the American Constitution he sets out briefly:

"A written Constitution made by the people themselves, an independent and uncontrollable judiciary to construe the constitution, together with the power of the people to amend and change their constitution, are the very pillars of a government by the people.

"We live under such a constitution . . . . The constitution of Italy is the fertile and restless brain of Mussolini. The constitution of Germany is the daring and resourcefulness of Hitler. The constitution of Russia has been—and, despite recently conceded reforms, still is—the iron will of Stalin.

"The constitution of the United States still is an actuality. It is the will and purpose of the American people crystallized into a written document binding upon people and rulers alike.

"The characteristic of earlier constitutions was the restraint and repression they placed upon the people and the latitude of power they allowed the rulers," Senator Borah writes. "The crowning virtue of our constitution is the restraint and control it imposes upon the agents and the representatives of, and the liberty it allows to, the people.

"Under the former constitutions, the people were subjects. Under our constitution, they are masters. They will not, if they know it, take a backward step."

REVERSING THE GAME

Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of Great Britain tells Germany that England will not consider the return of Germany's war-lost colonies until Germany, in turn, has given satisfactory pledges not to upset the peace of Europe.

It has been the German contention that the colonies must be returned first; after that, there will be time enough to discuss a new peace pact. Now the British are reversing the game—and their action is a step toward order and security in international relations.

For the Nazi brand of diplomacy is diplomacy by threat, diplomacy by fear—"give us what we want, or we will fight for it." However understandable it may be, in view of the cruel pressure Germany has been under in these post-war years, it is nevertheless a tremendous danger to world peace. Should the English course be followed, instead, the world's fear of war would be vastly reduced.

PROPER CHANNELS

A survey published a short time ago revealed that lynchings had declined remarkably during the past year. Several months ago, night-riding members of the midwestern Black Legion were brought to book by the law.

In Pennsylvania, a state trooper has been found guilty of the "third degree" murder of a hotel man.

These facts are all totally unrelated and yet, taken together, perhaps they are indicative of one thing. Perhaps they reveal that people, in general, are coming more and more to realize that infractions against law and order must be handled only through the proper channels of justice; that citizens cannot take the law into their own hands no matter how well such a course seems justified.

OFF THE RECORD

Every year, and especially in election years, the folks back home learn of the valiant fight their representative in Congress is putting up to stem the tide of waste and corruption that threatens to engulf the administration. These stirring tidings come from reprints from the Congressional Record of speeches never made, frank-free through the mails.

Now Rep. Sam Hobbs of Alabama proposes that the Record be closed to extraneous matters, including speeches never delivered on the floor of either house.

This, of course, would save the people a couple of hundred thousand dollars, and would eliminate from the record such stimulating articles as a discussion of the French duelling code and the curative effects of radium water which actually have been printed therein.

Texas Golfer Gets Fast Start, Sinks Two Holes-in-One

New York, March 4—(AP)—Two holes-in-one by the same player in one month figure prominent in 1937's initial roundup of the second annual Associated Press hole-in-one club members.

The lion's share of the inaugural honors go to Morris Norton of Wichita Falls, Tex., who already has two aces to his credit. The West Texas open champion hung up his first ace of the year on Jan. 16, when he negotiated the 215 yards of the Wichita Falls Country club 10th hole with his driver. On Feb. 14, he celebrated St. Valentine's Day by aing the 214-yard No. 1 hole on the same course with a brassie.

Among the other early "hole-in-ones" was J. P. Atwood of Rockford, Ill., who aed the 135-yard 18th hole of the Arizona Biltmore course at Phoenix.

Speculation

The securities and exchange commission, charged with regulating the stock market, but having nothing to do with the individual investor, recently received a letter addressed to: "The Permit Department, Washington, D. C."

On the back of the envelope was written: "I want to get a permit to play stocks on the Canadian markets. Please hurry this."

Union Organization

Offices of the CIO (Committee for Industrial Organization) are deluged these days with requests from workers to send them organizers to form unions.

The CIO staff has taken the position that it must concentrate on its major battles—in the automobile, steel and other basic industries—therefore is turning down most requests.

Merry-Go-Round

The United Mine Workers have gone in for art. Pestooned about their Washington headquarters are a portrait of John L. Lewis and a score of cartoons depicting labor events. One cartoonist to whom the miners wrote to get an original cartoon replied that Alfred P. Sloan, head of General Motors and archenemy of Lewis, already had asked for it. According to the department of agriculture, the drought has brought more foreign rape seeds into the United States than at any time since 1930. The failure of forage crops has caused large imports of rape, hairy vetch and clover seeds. Hungary is the chief country of origin. U. S. air firms, hitherto almost monopolizing the South American market, are now up against German wining and dining of Latin American aviators on de luxe, expenses-paid trips to Germany in order to boost the sale of German planes.

Wreck Spills 42 Coal Cars in Row

Forty-two loaded coal cars jumped the track when a New York Central train was crossing a bridge at South Byron, N. ## IN COUNTY COURT

Alfred Hicks, Amboy, was fined $100 and costs and prohibited the use of an automobile for a period of 90 days, when he appeared before Judge Leon Zick of Oregon in the county court yesterday, following his conviction by a jury early last month on an information charging him with the operation of an automobile while in an intoxicated condition.

The six minor children of Arthur Nafziger of South Dixon township, were declared dependents in an action before Judge Zick in the county court yesterday, and were ordered to be placed in a Lutheran home at Muscatine, Iowa, Rev. A. G. Suechting of this city was appointed guardian of the children's interests.

IN CIRCUIT COURT

A suit to recover damages in the sum of $5,000 was filed by attorneys Warner & Warner, representing Harold M. Christian, in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, against William Horton, Brooklyn township farmer. The complaint charges that on the evening of June 2, 1936, while traveling on state route 71, the defendant failed to stop before entering the state highway and crashed into the Christian machine which was demolished and the occupants injured. Christian, his wife Ada, and their children, Donald and Roderick, were passengers in the plaintiff's car.

Another action was started in the circuit court yesterday afternoon by the American Surety Co., of New York, a corporation, against Charles H. Long of this city to recover the sum of $1,000. The complaint alleges that the bonding firm was called upon to pay the sum of $799.67 to the Traveller's Insurance Company by whom Long was employed as agent, in settlement of liabilities incurred by him. The action is brought to collect the sum of the liability under the bond and interest.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 8 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Carole Lombard says: "Advised by my singing coach, I changed to Luckies"

"In my new picture 'Swing High, Swing Low' I sing a song for the first time since I have been on the screen. To do this, I spent months taking singing lessons. And with this added strain, my throat was not in good shape. My singing coach suggested that when choosing cigarettes, I select a light smoke. And so I changed to Luckies. Since then I've found that a light smoke and my throat get along together just fine."

Carole Lombard

CURRENTLY STARRING IN PARAMOUNT PICTURES' "SWING HIGH, SWING LOW"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Lombard verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.

WHAT BECOMES OF ANTLERS?

By Cal Johnson

It is common knowledge to most sportsmen that certain members of the deer family shed their antlers. However, many wonder why more of the shed horns are not discovered when traversing the woodland trails. Up the Cherry river from Oostabonning lake in northwestern Quebec is a region where scores of shed moose antlers have been seen. In Deer Creek park, Wyoming, during the early days, the mountain sides where elk wintered were covered with hundreds of old horns.

The theory has been advanced that the reason more antlers are not found is because of the rapidity with which they disintegrate. Horns that have been freshly dropped in December will begin to crack and split by early summer, and by August they will have practically disappeared. It is believed that the rapid disappearance of the horns in most sections is due entirely to their being eaten by rodents. Mice, squirrels and porcupines often eat the antlers for the salt they contain.

In the desert ranges in Mexico, skulls and horns of mountain sheep lie exposed to the weather for twenty years or more before disintegrating. Antlers which fall on moist ground disappear the more quickly. They soften and many times are consumed by rodents before the buck itself has grown a new set. Horns that fall on flat rock ledges or in very dry places remain too flinty to be eaten by rodents and only disintegrate slowly from natural causes.

Big game animals shed their horns at different seasons. Records taken in Yellowstone National park show that the prong-horned antelope begin to drop their horns the latter part of October and are finished by the latter part of November. Elk shed from the latter part of March to the first of May. White-tailed deer ordinarily shed their horns from January 15 to February 20, while mule deer are earlier, covering a period from January 6 to March 25.

The Yelp of the Wolf

The yelp of the wolf is heard almost nightly during the crisp cold nights in the northwoods. The cry of the pack as it scents the hot trail of the rabbit or deer penetrates the chilly atmosphere and the blood-curdling voices cannot help but cause the red blood to scamper madly through your veins as you listen from the open window of your northern cabin.

Midwinter is perhaps the best time to listen to the wolves howl. The colder the night and the brighter the moon the more prolonged is their hunt and their high-pitched cry seems to penetrate more sharply. Just at dusk they will commence to wander through the underbrush and thick forest growth in quest of fresh meat and their hunt usually lasts until the morning sun peeps over the eastern horizon. We have listened throughout the night from our snug cabin in the northwoods. Many times I have wrapped a blanket around my shoulders and stood in the doorway to listen as the wolves chased their quarry into a thicket close to my abode.

The tone of their cry told me distinctly just what was taking place. First there comes the series of yelps and yodeling as the wolves congregate and form the pack, which may be anywhere from three to six or more animals. Then comes the silence of the hunt until game is scented. A wild series of hound-like howls and yelps comes from their throats as they corner their deer, then one or two of the frenzied animals leap for the hamstrings of the unfortunate deer and down he comes, a victim to the hungry animals. The noise and turmoil that follows for several minutes tells of a tragedy of the forest. Then silence again prevails as the slinking forms satisfy their hunger, then disappear in the surrounding thicket where they sleep most of the day with full stomachs.

The big timber wolf of the northwoods is gradually disappearing from the central west, but the brushwolf seems to be increasing in numbers in some areas. The brush wolf is smaller than the timber wolf, but considerably larger than the prairie coyote. In Canada we have the mammoth lobo, the largest member of the wolf family. His cry is much louder than the brush wolf and ends with a woeeful tune much like the high-pitched strains of a steam calliope. A cold, still night in the great north country with the timber wolves and lobos howling is enough to make a hardened outdoorsman duck his head under the covers and thank his lucky stars that he is home and not on the trail.

Wolves, as a rule, do not attack humans. The animals are really cowards and avoid man at all times. We have listened to thrilling tales of wolves attacking and killing men, some of which may be true, but such occurrences are the exception rather than the rule. When game is scarce and the animals extremely hungry they might attack a man, but with things normal we should never fear them. Their howl is perhaps the more cause for us to shudder, rather than any possibility of meeting them in combat along the snowy trail.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

"A CITIZENSHIP CREED"

"I believe it to be my duty to inform myself on American history, the foundations of our government as embodied in the United States constitution, and the applications of the principles therein contained to present day problems."

"It is my duty as a good American citizen to help form public opinion in the community in which I live in order that all citizens may hold intelligent, just and humane views on governmental questions, and endeavor to have such views embodied in our laws; to cast my ballot in all local, state and national elections, and to urge my fellow citizens to do the same."

"It is my duty as a patriotic American citizen to be a minute man of the constitution, ready at all times to defend the long established and cherished institutions of our government against attack, either from within or without, and to do my part in preserving the blessings of liberty for which my revolutionary forefathers fought and died; that I must maintain continually a civic consciousness and conscience; that my country needs my active service in times of peace no less than war; that patriotism must be a constituent part of my religion; that no prouder boast can emanate from my lips than truly to declare, I am an American citizen."

Dixon Citizen.

After Crows

Sportsmen Invited to Participate in Extermination

Lee county sportsmen are to be given an opportunity to participate in a state wide crow extermination program, sponsored by the State Department of Conservation, and at the same time to contest for the delivery of quail and pheasants to propagate the present supply in the county. Announcement of the plan was made today by Conservation Inspector Charles Duis of this city, who has requested Lee county sportsmen to become active in competing for the prizes offered by the state department.

To participate in the crow extermination program, it will be necessary for any individual competing to make application for entry on or before March 10. This may be done by addressing a postal card or letter to the Department of Conservation, indicating a desire to become an entrant. An entrant may be either an individual or member of some type of club or organization. In the latter case, it is necessary to file a list of those participating in the contest.

To Send Crows' Feet

Only crows' feet are to be sent to the Department of Conservation, for credit in the contest. The contest will open March 16 and continue through May 31. Grand prizes for the entire period will be provided by the Department of Conservation as follows:

First prize, 100 birds, (quail or pheasants, or mixed.)
Second prize, 75 birds, (quail or pheasants, or mixed.)
Third prize, 50 birds, (quail or pheasants, or mixed.)
Fourth prize, 25 birds, (quail or pheasants, or mixed.)
Fifth prize, 10 birds, (quail or pheasants, or mixed.)

A count of crows' feet sent in will be made on the 15th and the last day of each month.

In addition to the above prizes, five birds will be awarded to the individual or club sending in the most feet for the half of each month—the first from March 16 through March 31, the second from April 1 through April 15; the third from April 16 through April 30; the fourth from May 1 to May 15; the fifth from May 16 through May 31.

Consolation Prizes

Consolation prizes are also to be offered, to be awarded to individuals of clubs, not winning any one of the grand prizes as follows:

100 pairs of feet—one pair of birds, quail or pheasant.
200 pairs of feet—five birds, quail or pheasant.

The birds to be given as prizes will be delivered by the Department of Conservation from the state game farms and liberated on premises designated by the winners. All of these birds will be produced during 1937.

Inspector Duis urges Lee county sportsmen to make immediate application for entry to P. J. Erio, chief inspector, room 121, State House, Springfield, Ill.

ROCHELLE NEWS

BY ARTHUR T. GUEST

Rochelle—C. Millard and Gordon C. Carlson, both of Chicago, have purchased and taken possession of the Rochelle Steam Laundry. The business was purchased from Scott McCray, who has operated it for several years. Both Mr. Millard and Mr. Carlson have been in the laundry business for a number of years. Until the time of their purchase they operated the Crescent Laundry in Chicago. Both men will move their families to Rochelle as soon as they can complete moving arrangements.

Rochelle Post No. 403, American Legion, is issuing invitations to every ex-service man in the community and territory served by the post to attend the next regular meeting of the post which will be held in the Legion hall Monday evening, March 8th. The post has secured two very good speakers for the meeting who will bring information of interest to all ex-service men. Following the meeting special refreshments will be served by the committee in charge. Other posts in the county have been invited and a fine evening is anticipated.

George Harrison and Howard Heron will discuss "Jesus and the Layman" at the Presbyterian church for the Sunday service on March 7, 1937 at 11 o'clock. Harry Ingleson will lead the singing and is rehearsing a girls' choir to aid in the song service.

Christ built His church and kingdom on laymen. His disciples were drawn from all walks of life that were not connected with the tabernacle or the synagogue. All the work of the organization and the spreading of the gospel has been done by the laity; the inspiration for that work from the clergy. Last Sunday the group fell a bit below the quota set by the congregation. The quota for this meeting is 320. It is an aid in counting if every member turns in a ticket. This is the mid point in the "Seven Big Sundays."

Howard Heron, John Maxson, and Alonzo Magnius were appointed on the man-cooked, man-served dinner committee by President Vernon Smith of the Men's Club. Sunday evening a meeting of the official board of the church was held at the manse. Some of the business considered was the annual budget for the year, plans for the continuation of the Lenten services, and the every-member canvass.

Arthur T. Guest attended the annual reunion of the "Fighting Sixty", an organization of World War veterans at the Medina Athletic club in Chicago, Saturday night. Fifteen members were present, coming from points as far away as Memphis, Tenn., and Minneapolis. The group was originally composed of the 60 men who enlisted in the ordnance corps and took their training at Northwestern University and San Antonio arsenal, Texas. There are now 54 men of this group living and banquets have been held annually except for the period of war service since the original banquet was held when the course at Northwestern University was completed. Next year the group will hold its twentieth anniversary.

One of the special features was an address by Karl N. Follard of Memphis, Tenn., on flood conditions of 1937.

POLO NEWS

By KATHRYN KEAGY

POLO—Approximately 60 pupils will take part in a program at the grade school assembly room Friday, March 5 at 7:30 o'clock. The numbers in the program are the result of the pupils' personal interests and ambition. The Mayor of Skunk Ridge and his two aides, Jack Terry and Donald Hurdle will be masters of the program and its sponsors. They list as special attractions, a human clock, a two man act with only one man, a concert violinist, several very fine vocal numbers, a quadrille, one original selection played by the composer. This program is to raise money for the library fund. The boys and girls hope to have proceeds enough to buy the Illinois state reading circle books recommended for this year.

The grade school orchestra under the direction of Robert Choate will play several numbers preceding the number of individuals or small groups. The remainder of the program will consist of vocal and instrumental numbers. Betty Roberts will be the accompanist.

If we know everything about some people, wouldn't we be happy? Now all you gossips, and otherwise, gather 'round and here's something about Mary Lou Robinson, an up and comin' freshman.

We can't be too hard on poor Mary Lou so first we'll ask her an easy question.

What is your favorite study? "English and biology."

Do you yell loudly at basketball games? "Oh so, so." You people who sit with her can probably tell better than anyone, can't you Bobby S.?

What is your main ambition? "To get all the fun I can out of life." Well, boys, take a hint.

If you were given a million dollars, what would you do? "I think I'd travel, and anyway I know I'd spend it." We do too, Mary Lou.

If you had one wish what would you choose? "I'd rather not say." Well, what is the deep dark secret? Are you Republican or Democrat? "Democrat, but no wise-cracks."

If you had the privilege of starting a new course in P. H. S. what would you start? "Spanish."

This ends our interview for this week. More inside "stuff" next time.

Freshman Tri-Hi
The freshman girls met Wednesday morning, February 24. The meeting was called to order by the president, Viola Fundell, and the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting. Miss Ashdown then took charge of the meeting. She suggested having a tea for the mothers of the girls. Several committees were appointed to consider the subject of invitations, refreshments, and a program. The meeting was then adjourned.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ETERNAL LIFE THROUGH CHRIST

Text: John 14:1-15

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.

Editor of Advance

We have seen how the shadow of death and of destiny was already over the circle of disciples, as Jesus, in mystic words, spoke concerning His mission and its fulfillment through sorrow and sacrifice.

The disciples undoubtedly must have been puzzled by words that they could not quite understand; and it must also have been a keen disappointment to them to be told that the kingdom that they supposed was going to be realized in earthly power and glory was in reality to be established through loss and sacrifice.

It was to disciples in this puzzled state of mind that Jesus expressed the words of our lesson, "Let not your heart be troubled." The remaining portion of that verse may be variously translated as "Ye believe in God, believe also in me"; or as a twofold exhortation, "Believe in God, believe also in me."

Jesus spoke to the disciples in parables or in symbols. His speaks of mansions in His Father's house. He speaks of a place that He is going to prepare for the disciples, and He speaks of coming again and receiving them unto Himself. He speaks of a way that He is going that the disciples know.

Was it any wonder that Thomas spoke out very plainly and said, "Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how know we the way?" It was this word of Thomas that brought the reply of Jesus, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life."

Jesus centers the great hope of life and immortality around Himself. There are certain things that He suggests the disciples could take for granted. If these mansions above, the reality of the eternal life, did not really exist, He would have told them.

Is not that essentially true as we read the story of Jesus and His earthly life among the disciples? If they could not find the evidence of God's presence and of eternal life in what the Master was for them, what further proof could there be?

Philip, somewhat troubled like Thomas, was still anxious to have certain matters cleared up. Despite the word of Jesus that He had revealed the Father, Philip said, "Lord, show us the Father, and it sufficeth us."

What could Jesus reply to that except to say, "Believe me that I am in the Father, or else believe me for the very works' sake."

That is, He said in effect to Philip, "If you have not found the reality of the Father's love and grace in me, then I have lived among you in vain."

Where does this lead? Right back to the love that we have seen emphasized in the preceding lesson.

"If ye love me," says Jesus, "ye will keep my commandments." It is in response to the love of Christ that the message of Christ is revealed, and that one is led to see in Jesus the earthly manifestation of a loving God and Father. If one cannot find the evidence of God and the way to God in Jesus, where can he find God?

The Texas Highway Department reports more than a half million trees and shrubs were planted in the state during the last two years in maintenance and construction work.

Prophets Overtake Dixon in Second Half of Game

Prophetstown's surprising basketball quint, runners-up in the Two Rivers conference produced an upset in the first round of the Dixon regional tournament here Wednesday night by stopping Dixon's favored team 18 to 15. In the second half of the first round tonight, Eric meets Sterling, and Lee Center takes on Rock Falls.

The Prophets were slow in getting started, but outscored Dixon in three of the four quarters of the game. The Sharpshooters got away to a good 6 to 0 lead. After Eddie Callahan had broken the ice with a free throw for Dixon when fouled by Moran, he dribbled in for a close-in shot which was followed by Conkey's and Don Miller's baskets. Prophetstown meanwhile, had difficulty with their free shots, and it was not until Goble finally gave them a field goal at the end of the first period, that the invaders found their range.

Prophets Take Lead

The Prophets then moved into the lead 7 to 6 on a trio of buckets counted by Gibson, Wheat, and Morath, whose clever passing befuddled Dixon's zone defense. Ellis countered for Dixon with a spectacular one-hander from the foul line on the run, and at half time Simester was fouled by D. Miller and gave the Prophets a free throw for an 8 to 8 tie.

A fast passing attack in the third quarter kept the Prophets very much in the game. They were in no hurry to shoot until certain of a fairly close-in attempt. Swiftly hurling the ball in semi-circular fashion from one side of the floor to the other to mix-up Dixon's defense, the Prophets would suddenly shoot it to a waiting man beneath the hoop for a tip-in goal. Prophetstown held a 14 to 12 third period lead, but not until they had erased a 12-8 Dixon margin which Ellis had given the Purple and White with

In the fourth stanza the Prophets maintained their lead until the game's conclusion, though they were threatened with a stirring Dixon rally in the final moments which was shattered when Ankeny given two free throw opportunities, missed them both. Prophetstown then stalled until the gun was fired.

The winners will now advance into the semi-finals against Amboy which beat Walnut 30 to 16 in the first game of the opening round Wednesday night.

Gophers Favored To Capture Share Of Big Ten Title

Chicago, March 4.—(AP)—Minnesota's surprising Gophers will be favored to knock off Chicago Saturday night and thus assure themselves of at least a share of the Big Ten basketball title—but they shouldn't take the luckless Maroons too lightly.

Not a man on the Chicago squad has ever been on the winning side in a Big Ten championship game—the Maroons have not won a conference game since defeating Iowa 41 to 40, Feb. 23, 1935, and will be primed for a rousing effort to produce an upset.

BAD SEASON FOR CHAMPS SEEN BY SPORTS EXPERTS

Return of Davis Cup, Yacht Race Win Are Predicted

By ALAN GOULD
New York, March 4.—(AP)—The only thing red-headed Don Budge and the University of Washington's varsity crew have in common is that they are expected to mop the competition, from west to east, in this year's sporting soiree.

They are the nearest to unanimous choices in a pool of the country's leading sports editors, taken by The Associated Press for a consensus forecast on 1937 events.

Exactly 42 out of 46 experts, representative of all shades of athletic thought, selected Budge to consolidate his No. 1 ranking this year by capturing the United States tennis championship. Taking to the water, but keeping aloft, 40 out of 44 named Washington to repeat in the four-mile varsity classic at Poughkeepsie.

Predict Davis Cup Win

Otherwise, on amateur fronts, sports editors pick the United States to regain the Davis cup, international tennis trophy; Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger to turn back the America's Cup challenge of Endeavor II in yachting; Johnny Goodman to displace Johnny Fischer as national amateur golf king; and Helen Jacobs to oust Alice Marble from the women's national tennis heights.

Sharp divisions of opinion reflected the uncertainty with which the outcome is regarded at several major points. Taken as a whole, the experts believe 1937 will be a bad year for champions. The exceptions involve the events to be conducted on tidal waters, where Vanderbilt and Washington are the choices to repeat. This follows the trend on the professional side, where the balloting reported yesterday showed the New York Yankees in the American League to be the only favorite among titleholders.

A "solid" motor fuel in the form of small cinders, made by carbonizing coal or peat, was used recently in a fully laden 5-ton truck traveling from Leicestershire to London. Fuel consumption averaged 2 pound a mile a ton of rolling load at a speed of 25 miles an hour.

With Major Leaguers

News Briefs From Training Camps of American and National Leaguers

By The Associated Press
Havana—Having "started something" among the scribes when he said his New York Giants were a better club this year than last, Manager Bill Terry is now telling why he thinks so. The pitching is better, his outfield will be improved, and his infield, even if he doesn't play himself, is a better one, claims Bill.

Clearwater, Fla.—The sum of $500 is assuming mountainous proportions in the Brooklyn Dodger training camp. Two of the top holdouts, Pitcher Van Mungo and First Baseman Buddy Hassett are shouting that only $500 separates each of them from coming to terms—but they're not signing until they get it.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The dressing room scales are taking a beating in the New York Yankees' training camp. Two of the larger pitchers in baseball, Bump Hadley and "Old Blue" Malone, have turned up weighing 210 and 201, respectively, while Murler Monte Pearson brought more than 170 pounds with him, although he has already dropped to 163.

Pasadena—Manager Jimmy Dykes of Chicago's White Sox, a lot of third baseman in his own right, is wasting no time in testing the talents of his prospective successor, 19-year-old Steve Mesner from Los Angeles.

Chicago—All of the Chicago Cub infield talent is under contract, but the athletes from whom the outfield will be selected still are listed among the dissatisfied. Billy Jurgens, star shortstop, signed yesterday, leaving Outfielders Frank Demaree, Augie Galan, Joe Marty and Tuck Stainback, and Pitcher Tex Carlton unsigned.

Daytona Beach, Fla.—If attendance at practice sessions can be taken as an indication, the Cardinals will play to record crowds during the training season.

Tampa, Fla.—Limbering up exercises and batting practice were ahead today for the first contingent of Cincinnati Reds to arrive for spring training. A second group was to leave Cincinnati this morning.

Orlando, Fla.—Cliff Bolton, No.

1 catcher of the Washington Senators, was back with the team today, trying to get an extra $500 out of Owner Clark Griffith. Bolton claims Griffith owes him the bonus for catching more than 100 games last season; the owner says Bolton forfeited when he quit the team without notice early in September.

Mexico City—Manager Connie Mack warmed up three rookie pitchers to try today against the Agrarians, pick of the native baseball teams.

New Orleans—The Cleveland Indians' hurlers with three days of training behind them, tossed up some pretty snappy fast balls today although no one excepting Tom Drake, a rookie who got an early start, has attempted any curves. The Tribe management announced at Cleveland that Left Fielder Julius Solters had signed the third contract offered him, leaving Outfielder Earl Averill and Pitcher Johnny Allen the outstanding holdouts.

HEAVYWEIGHT SITUATION IS CALM AWHILE

Garden Threatens Action However; Baer Escapes

New York, March 4.—(AP)—The much-mixed-up heavyweight situation dropped back into the first calm in weeks today, broken only by Joe Gould handing out 35 cents cigars and telling one and all what a "great guy" is champion Jim Braddock.

Max Baer is on the high seas bound for London after playing hide-and-seek with Madison Square Garden's process servers: Max Schmeling is awaiting developments in New York, still confident he'll fight Braddock for the title, come June 3, and the Garden is considering legal moves.

But, if you listen to Gould, Braddock's manager, you get the definite idea there's as much chance of the Braddock-Schmeling fight as of elephants flying.

"Of course we signed a contract for the Schmeling fight," explained the champion's pilot, "but the Joe Louis proposition in Chicago meant $500,000 to us. We can't pass up that much tin."

Baer Sneaked Out

Baer slipped out of port yesterday, his head sticking out of the port-hole of a liner in smiling response to a shrieking crowd of women fans. The Garden, through Matchmaker Jimmy Johnston, announced that although Maxie got away here, "We'll get him in London; we got lawyers everywhere."

The Garden wants Baer to fight Bob Pastor, Maxie, after coming here with that in mind, walked out of a state athletic commission meeting in a huff a week ago and decided to accept an offer for two fights in London. Later the commission granted him a boxing license and sanctioned the Pastor bout, but Baer decided he didn't want any.

The Garden has a second legal worry on its mind—over the Braddock-Louis thing. Promoters of that fight, scheduled for Chicago in late June, already have been warned there's trouble ahead for anyone involved in messing-up the Garden's plans for a Braddock-Schmeling go.

MT. MORRIS, POLO SURVIVE FIRST TOURNEY GAMES

Beat Stillman Valley, Kings, Move To Semi-Finals

(Telegraph Sports Service)
Mt. Morris, March 4.—Mt. Morris and Polo, both members of the Rock River Valley conference survived the opening round of the Mt. Morris regional basketball tournament, Wednesday night, the former beating Stillman Valley 30 to 26, and the latter downing Kings 26 to 23.

Mt. Morris overcame a 7-6 Stillman Valley lead in the first quarter to head their foes 16 to 11 at half time. Stillman Valley then turned on the steam and took a 19-17 third quarter margin only to see it erased by a Mound counter-attack 13-7 in the last period which produced victory for the Schrader crew.

Polo grabbed a 9-1 first stanza lead and piled it up to 20-7 at half time. Kings, undaunted then outscored Polo 12 to 1 in the third period to whittle Polo's margin down to two points 21 to 19. The Apostles, evidently chastened before it was too late then watched Kings' alert center Honeycutt and Ranken, guard, more closely and managed to remain ahead until the gun was fired.

DECATUR WINS OPENING TEST IN REGIONALS

Chicago, March 4.—(AP)—Decatur's defending champions were one step along the way toward another Illinois prep basketball title today, having negotiated their opening regional assignment last night.

The Reds trounced Kenney, 46 to 18, in the feature game of the Clinton regional. Clinton, which whipped Illiopolis, 45 to 16, was favored to meet Decatur for regional honors Saturday night.

LaSalle-Peru gained high scoring honors for the first big night of regional warfare by crushing Hennepin, 70 to 5, while Rock Island blistered New Boston, 62 to 13, in another scoring spurge at Moline. Moline, which meets Rock Island in the second round, displayed power by walloping Port Byron, 58 to 15.

The so-called weaker teams which reached the regional tournaments by finishing first, second or third in district tests last week moved 13 representatives into the second round against supposedly stronger opposition.

Revolta Shatters Par For Hollywood Open Tourney Lead

Hollywood, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., pro led the way into the second round of the 72-hole Hollywood open golf tournament today.

His par-shattering 66 bettered the efforts of 149 other professional and amateur starters yesterday. Johnny Farrell, the home club pro, was one stroke back of Revolta.

Bunched at 68 were Ray Mangrum of Dayton, O., Jack Patroni of Shawnee, Pa., Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa., and E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark.

Demand On—

ity Act, in 1936 was 1 per cent of the wages and salaries paid in that year. This tax increases to 2 per cent in 1937 and to 3 per cent in 1938 and thereafter. The same act imposes a tax for old-age benefits on wages up to $3,000 per year, starting at 1 per cent in 1937 and gradually increasing to 3 per cent in 1949 and thereafter.

Record Sales
In 1936 the company's sales of electric energy to customers were the highest in its history, amounting to 113,280,074 kilowatt-hours, an increase of 51,553,808, or 83.5 per cent over 1935. Of this increase 35,007,000 kilowatt-hours were accounted for by the sale of energy to a Stirling consumer that connected a large load of the company's lines early in the year.

Sales of energy to residential consumers totaled 19,905,179 kilowatt-hours, an increase of 77 kilowatt-hours over the previous year. Residential and rural customers combined increased their annual use of electricity from 545 kilowatt-hours in 1935 to 833 K. W. H. in 1936.

New Maximum Demanded
Rate reductions affording savings to electric customers and at the same time promoting greater use of electricity were made by the company in several instances during the year, commercial customers' savings amounting to more than $70,000.

Increased sales of electricity to all classes of customers resulted in the establishment of new all time maximum demand upon the company on December 22, 1936, when the electric system maximum demand reached the total of 22,829 kilowatts. This exceeded by approximately 3400 kilowatts the maximum demand which was established in 1929.

The company was serving 45,883 electric customers at the end of 1936, compared to 43,272 at the close of the previous year.

Gas sales of 1936 amounted to 1,915,183 therms, an increase of 84,391 therms or 4.6%. The total number of gas customers being served on December 31st was 14,644, an increase of 369 over a year ago.

Merchandise sales for the year reached a total of $567,240.48, which was 23.6% more than the business done in 1935. During the year 7,554 appliances were sold compared with 6,201 during the previous year. Included in these sales were 3,804 major appliances such as ranges, refrigerators and water heaters, an increase of 2,404, or 58% over those of the previous year.

New power business obtained during the year amounted to 2,977 horsepower.

Operating conditions during the year were comparatively favorable. There was little damage done to the company's electric lines from sleet or wind storms. The spring run-off of snow water and the heavy rains during the fall offset the effect of the summer's drought with the result that the hydro plant's output of 30,000,000 kilowatt-hours did not fall below that of a normal year.

With the approach of a new maximum demand on the company's electric system and those of other companies with which the company's system is interconnected, the steam generating station here which has been held in reserve since 1931, was conditioned for operation early in the year, and since November the 12,500 kilowatt generating unit in the station has been in operation during the peak load hours of the day. This arrangement will continue as long as load conditions require that the unit be operated.

The construction of a 132,000 volt transmission line from Dixon to Stirling and substations facilities to serve a large power customer were completed in March.

During the latter part of the year the construction of fourteen miles of a new 33,000 volt line between Lanark and Milledgeville was started. The twelve miles of transmission line between polo and Milledgeville and the twenty miles between Lena and Lanark are being converted from 12,000 volts to 33,000. The new lines will complete a ninety mile circuit when this project is finished, and will provide two-way service to seven towns and greater capacity and assurance against interruption of service to nine other towns.

Former Illini Made "First" Sultana of Sululand

Manila, March 4—(AP)—Warlike Sululand had two Sultanas as well as two Sultans today but leaders expressed hope their country will escape further bloodshed.

The newest Sultana—a former University of Illinois co-ed—is Princess Tarhata Kiram, wife of a crown prince. She was proclaimed first lady of Sululand by Sultan Jamal Abireen II, because the latter's wife, a commoner, could not be elevated to the throne.

The other Sultana, Pangyan Hadji Pandao, is the consort of Sultan No. 2, Mohammed Amirul Umbra Amilbanga. She is pushing her claim, she said, because her late uncle, Sultan Jamalul Kiram, ordered her to retain the Sultana at all cost. She was considered the power behind the throne while her uncle ruled.

The two Sultanas are nieces and adopted daughters of the late Sultan.

Since the 500,000 Sulus in the southern Philippines and North Borneo have had a few months to grow accustomed to the confused state of spiritual guidance brought about by a double Sultana, some of its leaders are asking "why shouldn't Sulu be ruled in peace by two Sultanas?"

Leading Moros contend the split in the royal family need not worry anyone, pointing out their people have the right to follow any Sultan they choose.

Champaign, Ill., March 4—(AP)—The Princess Tarhata Kiram, new Sultana of Sululand, Philippine Islands, attended the University of Illinois from 1919 until 1924, records showed today. She did not receive a degree. She now is listed on the records as Mrs. Datu Bayongan of Jolo, Philippine Islands.

had been in service for approximately twenty years was rebuilt. A new outdoor steel substation of increased capacity and an indoor four panel switchboard were constructed at Morrison.

Additional equipment providing increased capacity and better voltage regulation was installed in substations at Belvidere, Preppot, Alpha, Lena, Sandwich, and Earlville.

To provide the necessary capacity for the increased loads of customers, additions and improvements were made in the distribution systems of many towns, particularly Mt. Morris, Sterling, Stockton, Plano, Prophetstown, and Dixon.

Employee Relations
On December 18th, employees were given a bonus amounting to 2 1/2 per cent of their wages received from the company in the twelve months ended October 31, 1936.

State Hospital

By "Uncle Bud"

A variety program featuring sport films was exhibited to a large audience of patients at the amusement hall last evening.

The sudden and untimely death of Chief Clerk Edward Dawson has saddened the entire hospital community. Mr. Dawson had been connected with the hospital for so long he seemed almost an integral part of the institution. Many expressions of the loss the hospital will bear in Mr. Dawson's passing have come to our attention from the employees. In the language of the Roman gladiators, "Ave Atque Vale" (hail and farewell).

The new night policeman, J. Clofona of Rockford has reported for duty working his first tour of duty last night. Mr. Clofona comes to us with an enviable reputation as a boxer but above that impressing as being a gentleman of exceedingly likeable personality. There is however a quiet firmness about the man that bodes ill for any violator of hospital rules be he patient or employee.

Dr. Bloch has scheduled a large number of employees for examination at A-hospital today. This is part of the campaign to combat the epidemic of bacillary dysentery that threatened the institution.

George Phillips has withdrawn from the Polar Bear club and become affiliated with the Labrador Seals, a competing organization headed by Frank Pikel.

Meddie Durham who has been on the absent list has returned to duty.

J. Henry Wilson the pastor of the C-side returned to duty yesterday. Mr. Wilson had been called home by the death of a brother.

Employees having either days or vacations due them and desiring to take them are requested to apply at once to Miss Rose Whipp, chief nurse. This does not include or apply to night attendants.

Meri Hicks and John Reuter are expected to return to duty on the farm after finishing their work on the cottages about April.

Dr. Harry M. Lewis, assistant managing officer, gave his lecture on mental disorders to the attendants class Tuesday.

Fascist Council Demands More Babies For Future Army

Rome, March 4—(AP)—Fascist Italy launched a seven point drive today to increase the national birthrate for "military power" and "a secure future for the fatherland."

The fascist Grand Council, with Premier Mussolini presiding, outlined the drastic provisions to halt Italy's declining birthrate and assure more children to supply fascist armies of the future.

The plan, placing heavy economic burdens on bachelors and childless husbands, was the second such stringent step to be taken by the Council in its current series of meetings. Monday night the Council acted to strengthen the Italian army of the present, drafting all able bodies men into 37 years of almost continuous service between the ages of 18 and 35.

Last night's meeting, lasting into the early morning, was concerned with making sure that man power would be available.

Under the program adopted by the Grand Council, highest governing body of Fascism, heads of large families will receive not only preference in employment, but wage increases in proportion to the number of children they contribute to the nation.

ILLINOIS' LONG OVERDUE BUDGET
TO BE RELEASED*Will Be Unbalanced By
Over $18,000,000 State
House Says

Springfield, Ill., March 4.—(AP)—A budget more than $18,000,000 out of balance for the next biennium is to be submitted to the legislature next week by Governor Horner, with house passage of the utility tax bill expected to follow.

Finance department officials confirmed the report that the budget message, several weeks overdue, would be released Tuesday.

Advance word that the requested expenditure exceed anticipated revenues for the two years starting July 1 was given in the house by Majority Leader Benjamin S. Adamowski during debate on the utility tax.

Finance Director S. L. Nudelman meanwhile said the state would be fortunate if the current budget isn't thrown out of balance before the end of June.

Adamowski's advance figures, not otherwise announced by Horner, were that the various state offices have asked for a total of $119,626,000 a year to be expended. Against that, the yearly income of the state is estimated at $110,400,000 during the biennium.

May Trim Requests That would leave the budget unbalanced by $9,226,000 a year. It was understood however, that the requests for state funds would be trimmed by the appropriation committees with administration aid to place the budget back in balance before the start of the new biennium.

Anticipation yearly revenues include $72,000,000 from the three percent retail sales tax, and $8,500,000 from the new utility tax bill. Adamowski didn't give the house detailed figures on how much each treasury fund expects to receive and how much each department and agency wants to spend, except to quote $25,000,000 as the biennial cost of old age pensions.

Appropriations by the last legislature were $110,649,000 a year. Against that, total revenues during the 1936 calendar year were $102,457,000, the house was told.

FINDS 10 OYSTER PEARLS Toledo, Ohio.—(AP)—William R. Neale, member of the chamber of commerce staff, says he found ten pearls in a plate of oysters he ordered at the chambers dining room. The oysters had been cooked, however, and all the pearls were blackened and valueless. They ranged in size from that of a green pea to birdshot.

The French government has undertaken to supply gas masks to every resident of Paris in a vast program for defense against air raids.

Weight of letters handled by the postal service in the 1936 fiscal year averaged slightly over four-tenths of an ounce.

until the legislature adjourns in June will depend upon three factors, Nudelman said.

The first is the collection of $2,000,000 from the public utility tax, assuming it is enacted soon.

Second is the hope that some $2,500,000 in old appropriations will lapse, because expenditures authorized aren't made, leaving funds in the treasury.

In the third place, Nudelman hopes to salvage $2,300,000 from protested payments made before the 1935 utility act was held unconstitutional last month. More than $3,000,000 was in the protested fees fund, but the administration is trying to keep from refunding most of it.

Another effort will be made Tuesday to get the house to pass the utility tax. Yesterday's suspended roll call unofficially showed the vote was 90 to 22, with 102 votes needed for the emergency majority and 18 Republicans voting "present" because the budget hadn't been submitted. There were predictions that the two-thirds emergency majority could be easily obtained next week.

Expensive*Last Year's Drive for Votes Cost Millions

Washington, March 4.—(AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee disclosed today that political parties, their major candidates, and a host of independent organizations spent $23,973,329 in the 1936 presidential campaign. It was by far the most costly in American history.

The committee's final report, recommending drastic tightening of election laws, said the total cost of the election might approach $48,000,000, if the "tremendous volume" of money spent by individuals and local organizations could be counted.

The Republican National Committee and allied organizations spent $14,118,202, while similar groups supporting President Roosevelt paid out $9,228,406.

The total campaign expenditure averaged 52 cents for every ballot cast.

The investigators urged new legislation to halt coercion of voters, clarify reporting of expenditures, and forbid political contributions by labor unions.

The report, which committee members termed "the most thorough study ever made of political spending," said labor organizations contributed the "unprecedented total of $770,324 to the Democratic cause."

Noting that corporations already are forbidden to give money to campaign funds, the committee recommended the Corrupt Practices Act be amended "to prohibit contributions of like kind and character from all organizations x x x whose aims or purposes are the furtherance of group, class, or special interest."

Other highlights of the report were: The DuPont families of Wilmington, Del., spent more than any other, 12 members donating $510,370 to the Republican party and kindred organizations.

Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate, spent not a single penny in his own behalf, all his expenses being borne by the party.

President Roosevelt's personal expenditures were $28 for postage and $650 in donations to Democratic organizations.

The most modest campaign was conducted by the National Greenback Party, which spent only $2.50.

The largest expenditure in the senatorial races was $36,573 by Warren W. Barbour, former Republican senator from New Jersey. William H. Smathers, Democratic victor, spent $6,154.

The 1936 campaign cost more than twice as much as the 1928 election, the most expensive on record until last year.

In 1928 the Republicans spent $6,256,000, and the Democrats $5,342,000, bringing the total to $11,598,000.

STORIES IN STAMPS BY I. S. KLEIN

POET WHO FOUGHT OUT HIS IDEALS

A CURLY-HAIRED, wan-faced boy was growing up in southern Hungary, about 100 years ago, misunderstood by his parents and shunned by other boys because he was a dreamer.

Alexander Petof was named after his love of Hungary, he renounced his Croatian family name for the Magyar name of Petof.

His father disowned the youth, and Petof wandered about the country, eking out a scant existence as a strolling troubadour. His lyrics began to be appreciated and, in 1844, when he was on the verge of starvation, a literary society published his poems.

He was 21, then, and soon the public began to hear of him. They sang his patriotic songs and recited his other poems in public. Then came revolution and Petof took part. And in that spirit he died, in 1849, from wounds he received at the battle of Segesvar. He was only 26.

In 1923, the 100th anniversary of Petof's birth, Hungary issued a series of stamps in his honor. One is shown here.

BEGIN HERE TODAY DAPHNE BRETT, good-looking, successful young New York advertising executive, sits in the Connecticut estate her father left her when he died to LARRY SMITH, attractive architect, and promptly becomes interested in him. Daphne has one sister, JENNIFER, six years younger, who is just out of college and has come to New York to live with her.

Jennifer's coming proves quite a test to Daphne because Jennifer is a chic, vivacious little modern who promptly proceeds to date Daphne's old beau, TUCK ALVAREZ. Daphne feels concerned because she feels it her duty to direct Jennifer. She also feels in Jennifer a challenge to herself—a challenge to get a bit more from life than a mere existence.

But Daphne is under the impression that Larry Smith is married. Returning to her apartment one night Jennifer breaks the news that Mr. Smith had called, visited her and had invited her to Brett Hall. Daphne protests that Jennifer can't do that since Larry is married, whereupon Jennifer reveals that he is not married.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER VII LARRY SMITH wasn't married! He lived at Brett Hall with his mother and his aunt.

Daphne said, "Let's have frog's legs for dinner and something gala for a sweet."

"Not for me. My figure means too much," Jennifer answered promptly and stretched her lithe form full-length on the lounge. "Why the sudden celebration?"

Daphne couldn't tell her that she was suddenly light and gay inside her—lighter and gayer than she had been these last two months. She couldn't say that it made her happy to know that Larry Smith wasn't married. She took her happiness into the kitchen and rattled her pans and plates noisily.

Not that she was in love with Larry Smith—she dismissed the thought instantly as being ridiculous. And admitted that he was the first man in her life that she had wanted to know, wanted to make her friend. The first man to whom she had been instantly attracted. The first man she had ever known so briefly and never been able to forget. Even Anne had sensed that.

"HOW was the job today?" she said to Jennifer when they were seated at the candle-lit table. Usually she avoided the subject since Jennifer could be so explosively unhappy about it. Tonight her sense of well-being spread to tolerance even of that unpleasantness.

"Lousy," Jennifer said concisely.

"Not yet," Jennifer said, and seeing the shadow darken her sister's face, she got up, came around the table and kissed Daphne on the top of her head.

"You're like a naughty child," Daphne said, "and you'll have to be punished for frightening me. You can wash the dishes and I'll wipe them."

Jennifer splashed water merrily on her smart frock. "Don't bother about it, I can send it to the cleaners."

Daphne wanted to protest that every dollar—

"Why didn't you tell me how attractive the Brett tenant is?" Jennifer demanded and Daphne had no answer. She didn't—or

"Darling, why don't you attack it from a different point of view? You wanted to work in Wall Street and you're working there. There must be something good about it. I know that you're not used to being cooped up but that's what goes with a job like that. When you get to like it, it doesn't seem confining. What, exactly, is the trouble?"

"Men," Jennifer said. "The wrong ones. There are some awfully attractive boys in the outfit but I never even get a chance to meet them. Then old Harrison asks me to lunch and today he wanted to know if he could have a date with me on Friday night. You can imagine what I said!"

"I can," replied Daphne. "Of course, Harrison is 35, and that isn't the doddering age. And he does have social position. You might as well learn now as later, Jennifer, that the attractive boys you meet this way have girls in their own set."

"I'd like to know if you mean that I'm not good enough for them? The Bretts aren't exactly poor white trash."

"I know," Daphne went on patiently, "but we can't go around with a marked pass 'B' of the social register pinned on our frocks. And we can't talk about it. New York is a hard town, Jennifer. The working girl here is labeled the working girl here the same as anywhere else even if she does appear to have more chances. She has to work for them. You can't use a job as a social wedge. Not your kind of a job?"

"Why not?" Jennifer disagreed. "If I get a chance to meet the kind of men I want to meet, why can't I take advantage of the opportunity? If a chorus girl—"

"You're not a chorus girl, Jennifer."

"Not yet," Jennifer said, and seeing the shadow darken her sister's face, she got up, came around the table and kissed Daphne on the top of her head.

"You're like a naughty child," Daphne said, "and you'll have to be punished for frightening me. You can wash the dishes and I'll wipe them."

Jennifer splashed water merrily on her smart frock. "Don't bother about it, I can send it to the cleaners."

Palmer Suggests New Law To Relieve Insurance of Secondary Banking Work

The time has come when the states by law should encourage separation of the life insurance business from the banking demands, declared President Ernest Palmer of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, Director of Insurance of Illinois, addressing the thirtieth annual convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, December 3, in New York City, on the subject "Protecting American Foresight Through Insurance Legislation."

After complimenting the life companies for having come through the past depression with flying colors, Mr. Palmer advanced the thought that steps should be taken to remove the companies' banking position in which they found themselves, especially in 1931 and 1932 when they were exposed to heavy cash and loan demands on policies, and which prompted moratoria on such funds.

Laws Being Considered

He announced that steps already are being taken to draft such a proposed law, and indicated several commissioners are to be asked to consider it. His address, in large part, follows:

Life insurance companies on the whole came through the past depression with flying colors and the great majority of them are prepared, I fully believe, to meet the next one if it should occur within a reasonably immediate future. They would do so, however, at a considerable cost not only to the policyholder in the form of reduced dividends, but to this country as a whole because of their inability to properly invest funds. It would be far healthier if these funds were available on a conservative basis for the development of the resources of this country, in the construction of homes and the improvement of farms.

To place the life insurance companies in a position where they are able to invest funds to contribute to this largely desirable end, some conservative but forward looking steps should be taken to divorce them from the secondary banking position in which they found themselves especially in 1931 and 1932. That step may be taken by changing the law which exposes the companies to the cash and loan guarantees on their policies.

Believes Idea Worthy

This may appear radical at first blush (if any of us have dared retain that rather juvenile or adolescent method of expressing our feelings in these days of color photography). However, may I remind you that in the Spring of 1933, when attending my first insurance commissioners' convention with a sufficiently inadequate knowledge of life insurance problems to prevent any conceit on my part, I expressed the opinion that the banking functions of life insurance companies should be materially curtailed. It is not surprising that such a suggestion from a neophyte occasioned no public comment either of alarm or commendation, but, after four years, I still feel that the idea is worthy of serious consideration by insurance commissioners and company executives as well.

Certainly the policyholders have exercised cash loan privileges very thoughtlessly with resultant harm to themselves in many cases. The life insurance loan was easy to get—there were no embarrassing questions as to what was to be done with the money—there were no stipulations as to when it should be repaid and the consequence was that in the majority of instances the value of the insurance policy itself was impaired, if not eventually totally destroyed, merely to lift an annoyance rather than to provide for necessity.

Debts Liquidated

The payments on the radio, or the automobile, or some debt that probably should never have been incurred, or in any event should have been met by self-denial and industry, were liquidated by the cash values of many small policies which should have been considered as the family's last resource.

In a considerable number of cases the values of life insurance policies went to margin stock speculations which were afterwards totally lost. Such analyses as I have been able to make convince me that less than 10 per cent of the loans and cash values of life insurance policies in the past few years were warranted.

While I don't subscribe to the fallacy that whenever any difficulty arises the first step in the cure may be achieved by singing the old refrain "There ought to be a law against that," I do feel that serious thought should be given at this time to sane legislation which will protect American foresight which has caused the majority of our people to acquire life insurance.

Sometimes companies and policyholders alike can be protected against themselves by carefully considered legislation which sometimes is welcomed by companies although no one company, due to competition, would dare advocate it. It will be interesting to me, and I am sure, likewise to my fellow commissioners, to learn the reaction of insurance company executives to the following suggestion:

Purchased by Self-denial

Should legislation be enacted which will allow a life insurance company to sell a policy that protects the widow and orphan—protects them not only from the loss of the bread-winner but protects them from his folly? You know that many life insurance premiums are paid by the economy and self-denial of the wife and mother, and I feel that steps should be taken which will assure her definitely and beyond peradventure the results which she has a right to expect as the fruit of such self-denial.

Do you agree with me that the life insurance companies should be able, and would they be willing, to issue a policy of life insurance that will be a sure-where the premium would buy a life insurance policy and nothing else—where the values would be available to continue this policy in the event of economic stringency—and whereby the widow and the orphan would be sure to get the protection which they had paid for?

Life insurance in its present development is distinctly an American institution, and I firmly believe, the keystone of the arch that supports the American family. American foresight is materialized through life insurance as much or more than it is through any other agency of government or business.

In the past, I believe, steps have been taken by the states themselves which have weakened this keystone. At the risk of having someone say that the Director of Insurance of Illinois has outlived the time for which he was born too soon, I make bold to suggest that the time has come to speak frankly on this subject. Something should be done to place it beyond the power of the average man to rob the babies' bank, to remove this fund which has been sacrificed by the toil and sacrifice of the average housewife from the assaults of outside interests.

To look back on many loans and surrenders in the past five years is to find a somewhat sordid picture. I am informed that there have been agencies of relief which refused to grant aid until the life insurance fund had been exhausted. I am reliably informed that certain companies, manufacturing agricultural machinery sold on time, required statements from farmers which provided a blank to show the cash value of life insurance policies and insisted that the farmers avail themselves of such cash values in order to avoid foreclosure of chattel mortgages.

Information has come to me of the efforts of collectors for radios, furniture and various unnecessary "gimmicks," who insisted on the same course of action. Of course, this is legal and no doubt a seller of any goods on installment is entitled to have a complete history of the uses which have been made of such knowledge are far from social. Anyone, especially in an official capacity, who raises a problem for consideration should perhaps have the courage to offer a remedy for the consideration of those who may agree with him that a problem exists. I make bold to do so.

Legislation Recommended

Adequate legislation should be enacted in the several states which will permit life insurance companies to issue a policy which has the most liberal provisions for premium loans and extended and paid-up insurance—possibly one that provides for practically 100 per cent application of the reserve for such purposes, but is not subject to surrender for cash and on which said reserve is available only for premium loans.

At the same time, I would not prohibit companies from writing a policy with cash surrender values, but I would have such values based upon lower reserves produced by assumption of a higher interest rate or by application of a compulsory minimum surrender charge.

If a man wants his life insurance to act as his banker and you are willing to do it, that it all right, but certainly he should pay for the banking privileges. There is no reason why he should take a policy which carries practically a demand for cash value unless he is willing to pay for it.

If he wants to have the advantage of a savings account combined with his life insurance, why should you pay him more interest on his savings account than the conservative banking institutions of this country will pay? Or why should he expect more interest on his savings account than the conservative banking institutions of this country will pay? Or why should he expect more interest on his savings account than the conservative banking institutions of this country will pay?

Believes in Separation

Therefore, I firmly believe, and if it be treason make the most of it, that the time has come when the states by law should encourage the divorce of the life insurance business from the banking demands. It seems to me proper for the various state authorities to recognize the justice and wisdom of this position and to do so without any request from the insurance interests themselves. There should be prepared and enacted legislation which will enable you gentlemen to discharge your obligation to the widow and to the orphan and to discharge it completely. Let the wife and mother know that when she sends a premium to the insurance company she is accumulating a fund for herself and for her children and for nobody else.

We are now engaged in drafting a law which, if enacted, will give effect to the theory outlined in this paper. We would be glad to have you and your lawyers draft a law and submit it to us, if, after the theory is sound and that same legislation of this kind will protect American foresight.

As you know, about 40 state legislatures will convene in regular session next January, and it is within the realm of possibility that amendments to standard policy provisions may be offered on this subject. It is further possible that such amendments may be incorporated in a comprehensive insurance code, if any insurance commissioner has the audacity to propose such a measure to the legislature of his state.
